

Lineground Media System

Skram

The new L41 Lineground Media System joins the family of Lineground Servers and Lineground Lowdown Media Units in that it is a large, entirely customizable casegood and well-suited for a wide array of settings from the living room to the boardroom. Like many Skram products, the L41 can be customized in material, scale and configuration. In terms of configurations, there are a vast array of power/data/wire management and interior outfitting options to tailor the product for how it will be used.
