

Parquetry Coffee Table by Lee Broom

Parquetry is a traditional method of fusing wood together to form a decorative surface pattern normally associated with floor coverings. The Parquetry Coffee Table is an incredibly tactile piece inspired by fashion photography, and contains a seamless mix of wood and striking colour elements. The beauty of this product is not only the aesthetic but also in the production. A modern edge to the surface design is achieved while retaining the quality behind the manufacturing process in fusing the wood and coloured elements. COLLECTION: Heritage Boy, 2010 Drawing on traditional British manufacturing techniques, Heritage Boy is a modern-day furniture collection which is divided into three distinct ranges: Carpentry, Parquetry and Tiles. The same philosophy, classic shapes and daring applications have been used in each distinctly unique range.
